Protecting children, elders, and other vulnerable groups from violence, abuse, and all forms of exploitation requires the cooperation of different sectors of society. As family members jockey for new positions, conflict can erupt. Thus, although Part II focuses more specifically on elder abuse and neglect, Part III shifts the